

Pulp and Paper Industry Health and Safety Newsletter Conference Issue November 2015

Welcome to the 2015 Pulp and Paper Industry Health and Safety Conference. This year we are again pleased to be co-locating our event with the Appita Fibre Value Chain Conference.

We have a group of fantastic speakers for you, with a diverse set of experiences under their collective belts including industry insiders and experts. Our keynote speakers, Rachael Robertson and Sonny Coleiro are experts in their field and experienced leaders. Sonny is known to many in the industry as a passionate advocate for safety, and Rachael Robertson is a globally recognised expert in leadership and teamwork and former leader of a year long expedition in the Antarctic. Our keynote addresses on the morning of Day 2 will be a plenary session with the Appita conference delegates so be on time to grab your seat!

During the breaks over the next two days be sure you stop by the First Super stall in the exhibition hall. First Super Coordinators will be available to answer your questions regarding superannuation issues; assist you with 'lost super' queries as well as make appointments for you with their specialist financial planners - for those thinking about their longer-term financial plans.

At the conclusion of Day 1 we will be hosting a 'cocktail function' with a proper Aussie BBQ at the Boat Builder's Yard from 5.30-8.30pm. The Boat Builder's is a very short walk from the conference venue and there is a map included in this newsletter. Our evening function is always a great opportunity to catch up with friends old and new after a full day's program of speakers and presentations, and we look forward to seeing you there and catching up.

We hope to provide you with a productive and lively conference this year with plenty of audience interaction so get your questions ready - and I look forward to catching up with you over the next two days!

Cheers, Denise Campbell Burns

LEGACY

Day 1 of our conference this year falls on the 11th of November, Remembrance Day – a day to remember all those members of the armed forces who have died in the line of duty. Of course the armistice that formally ended the hostilities of World War 1 was signed at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month, before the Treaty of Versailles to end the war was formally signed in June, 1919.

The red poppy has become a familiar emblem of Remembrance Day due to the poem “In Flanders Fields”. Poppies bloomed across some of the worst battlefields of Flanders in WWI – and still bloom today - their brilliant red colour becoming a symbol for the blood spilled in the war. In lieu of speaker gifts at this year’s conference, a donation has been made to the Legacy Remembrance Day Appeal. This year marks 90 years of Legacy’s work in providing support to Australian Defence Force families, assisting them in times of grief and struggle to move towards a brighter future. You can read further about Legacy’s important work in this newsletter.

For 92 years Legacy has provided assistance to the families of Defence Force Personnel who have died or been incapacitated in war or as a result of military service.

Their work provides much needed support and advice to young families, widows, dependents with disabilities, and families while loved ones are deployed. Legacy also advocates in pension matters on behalf of veterans and their families.

Committed ‘Legatees’ work tirelessly to support the dependents of incapacitated and deceased veterans and provide an invaluable service to the community. We are proud to be able to contribute to such a worthy cause.
